Hello everyone,

Thank you so much for supporting our shared video project and encouraging and/or coercing your children to take part. It has been an absolute delight to see all of the children and to share the things that they are grateful for. I am thrilled with the final result and hope it brings some joy to you all. As the video says, I believe thinking about the positives in the current situation, however small, really can help us be more resilient to the challenges we are all facing at the moment. Please click on the link below and it will take you directly to the video on our website.

Thank you so much to Ms Leithead for her time and dedication to the production of the final video and also to Reverend James Harvey for his contribution - we are using the gratitude jar idea at home - a real challenge with two very unimpressed teenagers - but so far it works!

On Sunday we hope to have some more information about Government plans for the next phase of the response to COVID 19. As soon as we know what this means for schools, we will of course let you know our plans. As always we will do our best to offer the best possible service we can to you and your children.

Let's hope the sun keeps up for at least some of the weekend.

Very best wishes

Suzanne Connolly
